

News of the week.

1.

Friday is Orange Shirt Day. Started because an aboriginal student wore an orange shirt to school and it was taken from him. More INFO.

2.

Saturday is the Rally for Decent Work in Toronto.

For those interested in making Ontario a better place for work for our children and neighbours, please register for the bus. >>

Remember, PSSP will reimburse meal expenses ($13 breakfast, $20-max amounts-receipts required)

Why should we give a damn? See FACEBOOK page.

3.

Seen any of these in the schools? See the story >>

Janice McCoy sent the following out:

We know that you may have already heard from some of your members in relation to cockroaches being sighted in their school. Management of cockroaches is complex and we understand that in each of the schools there may be a variety of factors that contribute to the successful control of them. Awareness and cooperation from families can be a positive contributor to that management.

Sadly, cockroaches, bedbugs and other critters hitch rides to schools with the students. Please take precautions. Laurie Dance, our Health & Safety Officer, got a briefing. There should be more information the week before Thanksgiving. Stay vigilant.

4. School Accommodation Reviews are being held. OSSTF

OSSTF cautions members from discussing the review process or the closure of school when students and parents are present.

There is a list of Dos and Don'ts on the website. Click the poster.>>
