Information for Education Workers *Is Your Home Insured for Water Damage?

Images of extreme flooding have been dominating headlines of late. Unfortunately, it doesn't take exceptional hurricanes, like Harvey or Irma, to flood urban areas. Residents of Ottawa and Gatineau experienced devastating damage to their homes from the heavy rainfall. Thousands of people woke up to flooded basements or worse.

Canada has become wetter, with a 16% increase in precipitation since the 1950's. Damage from storms, spring thaw and other fresh water flooding is occurring everywhere across the country which accounts for 40% of property insurance claims, annually. Yet, the sad reality is that many people do not prioritize water protection when it comes to their home insurance.

Did you know that water entering your home from sources like sewer back-up and heavy rain are not necessarily covered under all home insurance policies? These types of coverages are additional options, called endorsements, that you may choose to add to your standard home insurance policy.

Water Coverage Options

Flooding is the number one cause of natural disaster in Canada. This has inspired insurers to rethink the way they treat water damage, including the introduction of overland water protection insurance. It is one of two types of insurance that can be added to your home insurance policy to protect your home and your belongings:

Sewer Backup? Overland Flooding? Confused, there is more on the next page.

Sewer backup coverage - This insurance covers you if severe weather or storms, cause sewers, septic tanks and/or sump pumps to backup and cause flooding in your home.

Overland water protection - Overland water protection covers you if water enters your property as a result of a sudden accumulation caused by rains, melting snow, spring run-offs, and/or overflows of lakes and rivers. It is only available in tandem with sewer backup coverage, meaning you need to have both to obtain overland protection.

Water can cause a lot of damage to your home, and repairs can be costly; so, don't presume you're fully covered, only to find out you're not. Make sure you know and understand the coverage options you have under your home insurance policy.
